DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election with traverse of the Restriction Requirement of Paper No. 6 in Paper No. 7 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that search and examination of the entire examination could be made without serious burden to the examiner. Because of the different characteristics with respect to principal classification this argument is not convincing. However, in order to mitigate the adverse consequences of the restriction requirement, without prejudice as to the underlying cause of the same, on overall delay of disposal the examination is herewith conducted at the earliest possible time.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated Rostoker et al (5,914,955). Rostoker teaches a semiconductor device (cf. title and abstract, first sentence) for output interface 340 (cf. abstract, second sentence and column 29, lines 50-67) having an interface function with an output device, the semiconductor device comprising:

an input terminal 300 (column 7, lines 8-53) to which compressed data (cf. column 7, lines 22-24) is input;

a decompression section 300 (cf. column 7, lines 46-49) which decompresses the compressed data;

an output terminal in 300 for outputting data decompressed by the decompression section to the output device 348 (cf. column 28, lines 61-67).

With regard to claim 2: Rostoker teaches a semiconductor device (cf. title and abstract) for input interface (MPEG, column 35, line 62 – column 36, line 7) having an interface function with an input device, the semiconductor device comprising:

an input terminal 329 (cf. column 36, lines 4-5) to which uncompressed data is input from the input device;

a compression section 329 (cf. column 36, lines 4-5) which compresses the uncompressed data; and an output terminal to 373 (cf. column 36, lines 12-26) for outputting data compressed by the compression section.

With regard to claim 3: Rostoker et al teach a semiconductor device (cf. title and abstract, first sentence) for driving a display section, the semiconductor device comprising:

an input terminal 300 (column 7, lines 8-53) to which compressed data (cf. column 7, lines 22-24) is input;

a decompression section 300 (cf. column 7, lines 46-49) which decompresses the compressed data;

an output terminal in 300 to 307 for displaying data decompressed by the decompression section to the display section 307 (cf. column 7, lines 40-53).

With regard to claims 4-6: Rostoker et al also teach the inclusion of code division multiplex access (CDMA) inherently satisfying the limitation of claims 4 and 5.

With regard to claim 7-15: the compressed data is compressed according to the MPEG (Motion Pictures Experts Group) standard (cf. column 4, lines 27-41).
